Saguaro National Park Hosts Allen Dart for Special Lecture on Hohokam Culture

Tucson, AZ – Archeologist Allen Dart, M.A., RPA, will be presenting a special program on Hohokam Culture this Friday, January 10 at 2:30 in the Tucson Mountain District (west), Red Hills Visitor Center.

Join us as Allen illustrates how the material culture of the Hohokam culture provides archeologists with clues for identifying where the Hohokam people lived, how they adapted to the Sonoran Desert for centuries, and possibly explains why the Hohokam culture may have disappeared.

The event is open to the public and is made possible by the Arizona Humanities Council.
